Ellenville Plans Vote On Bingo Many Regulations Delay Early Start

Ellenville village trustees have voted to put to a referendum before the people as soon as legally possible, the question whether bingo shall be permitted in Ellenville. Trustee Jerome Elkin offered the resolution which was seconded by Mrs. Marie Green.

It is not considered likely that bingo, if voted by referendum, can be legally played before some time late next year as a commission to license and control the operation of bingo games has to be established.

Up to Area Option

Under the law municipalities, meaning cities, towns and villages, will have to sanction bingo at a general or special election called after January 1, 1958. Under Section 476 of Article 14-g of the General Municipal Law only bona fide religious, charitable or non-profit organizations of veterans, volunteer firemen and similar non-profit organizations may conduct bingo games.

State Sets Rules

Numerous rules and regulations have been set down governing the playing of bingo after it has been authorized by local referendum. Among the rules set down by the state law are:

No person or organization other than authorized organizations shall be permitted to conduct such games.

The entire net proceeds of any game shall be exclusively devoted to the lawful purposes of the organization permitted to conduct the same.

No single prize shall exceed the sum of $250.

No series of prizes on any one occasion shall aggregate more than $1,000.

No person except a bona fide member of any such organization shall participate in the management or operation of such game.

No person shall receive any remuneration for participating in the management or operation of any such game.

$10 License Fee

Unauthorized conduct of bingo game or any willful violation of the provisions of the local law or ordinance shall constitute and be punishable as a misdemeanor.

A fee of $10 will be paid for each occasion after a license is granted and one half of that fee will be kept by the municipality and one half forwarded to the State Comptroller.

No person under 18 years of age shall be permitted to play in bingo games unless accompanied by an adult.

No bingo game shall be operated under any license other than on six days in any one calendar month.

No game shall be held or played in any room or outdoor area where alcoholic beverages

4th Teener Still Sought for Local Laundry Robbery

Search continued today for the fourth teenager wanted in Thursday's $56 armed stickup at the Kingston Laundry, 79 Broadway, when three other accomplices were captured at gunpoint by local police after the robbery.

An eight-state teletype description was sent out on John Diego, 19, of Albany, whom, the other three told police, they met in an Albany bar.

3 in Custody

Held for the laundry holdup were Gerald Charles Schlesinger, 17, of 35 Lorne Street, Dorchester, Mass.; Marcus Sorgman, 16, of 108 Stoughton Street, same city; and Joseph Harris, 16, of 16 Fernoy Heights Avenue, also Dorchester.

They were booked Friday morning in city court on first degree robbery charges and their cases were put over until Tuesday after assignment of counsel to represent them. Harris, the third, said he would obtain counsel.

Rifle Found in Car

Police said Schlesinger walked into the laundry and demanded all the money in the cash register from Barbara Bilyou, 19, of Port Ewen, an office employee. He held a small automatic pistol of Belgian make. This and a .22 calibre rifle, later found in a stolen car used by the youths, are at police headquarters.

Detectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons caught the trio after spotting the stolen car, in which they allegedly travelled, near the Fair Street Reformed Church about 6:30 p.m.

Probe Nuclear Safeguard

Study Space Blast To Stop Missiles

WASHINGTON — The Air Force says a scientific team is probing the possibility of nuclear explosions in space as a possible weapon against intercontinental missiles.

An announcement from Kirtland Air Force Base, N. M., last night said a group of 16 scientists is near "a major scientific breakthrough, the key to America's defense against an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM)." Declined ICBM Theory

Col. McPherson Morgan, head of the group, declined to say whether such a blast might be used to knock out an ICBM. But he said:

"There are several interesting phenomena of a nuclear explosion, and some are more affected by the presence of air than others. . . . We feel that we have ways of destroying nuclear and non-nuclear rockets out in space."

Pentagon officials had no immediate comment.

Maj. Gen. A. R. Luedcke will conduct the U. S. Nuclear tests in the Pacific next year.

Creates New Post

Disclosure of the Kirtland project followed by a few hours the announcement by Secretary of Defense McElroy that he was creating a special new post to coordinate space-age "weapons projects of the future" — including anti-missile missiles.

McElroy disclosed plans for the new job in a news conference yesterday at which he also said that at next month's NATO meeting in Paris, the United States will seek agreements for advance missile bases overseas.

He said the United States wants to locate intermediate range ballistic missiles (IRBM), those with a reach of 1,500 miles, on foreign bases within range of "our prospective enemy," obviously meaning Russia.

Shortly after the McElroy conference, the Air Force disclosed that its intercontinental missile, the Shark, delivered a simulated hydrogen warhead on a target 5,000 miles from its launching.

Unprecedented Accuracy

The announcement said the missile streaked to its target "with unprecedented accuracy."

Three Groups Will Visit City Schools Next Monday

Three individual groups will visit as many schools during the tour of Kingston schools next Monday, Nov. 18, starting at 8 p. m., it was announced today.

The visitation is being sponsored by the P-TA Council of Kingston in order to make a better evaluation of the more than 30 possible solutions offered while exploring the topic "What Should Be Done." The visit was brought up at a Council meeting following the defeat of the proposed bond issue for a junior high school in the uptown section of the city.

The group for Monday's visits follows:

Group A will be made up of parents from Schools 4, 7 and Myron J. Michael School going to Schools 2, 5 and 8 at 8 p. m., 8:30 p. m. and 9 p. m. respectively.

Group B is made up of parents of Schools 2, 5 and 8 visiting Schools 3, 6 and the George Washington School at the same time schedule.

Teamsters Boss Asked To Testify Adelstein Avers 'Ready to Talk'

WASHINGTON — Senate rack-ets probers today offered Bernie Adelstein, a Teamsters Union boss, a chance to reply to charges linking him with violence and Mafia mobsters in New York's garbage hauling industry.

Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, told newsmen "Adelstein says he's going to talk."

Has Recordings

Kennedy added that he has recordings of some wire-tapped telephone conversations to use as "refreshers" in quizzing Adelstein, business manager and boss of the union's Garbage Men's Local No. 813.

Kennedy said Adelstein would be asked to reply to testimony that he had threatened the life of John Acropolis, another teamster official, three weeks before Acropolis was shot to death in a bitter 1952 feud involving unionists, garbage haulers and gangsters. Acropolis' slaying still is listed as unsolved.

Adelstein was summoned as the main witness in what was expected to be the final day of hearings on the New York garbage racket.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) has announced this phase will lead to later and perhaps bigger investigations of alleged ties between some high teamster officials and the Mafia, a secret society of criminals.

Mobsters in Some

"They (Mafia mobsters) have not infiltrated the whole Teamsters Union, but there are areas where they have," McClellan told reporters. He declined to elaborate on this or his earlier statements, pledging a further investigation he said is needed to prevent gangsterism from "taking over the country."

Testimony about threats to Acropolis was received Tuesday from Ed Doyle, who succeeded

Gaillard Stakes Future Over Vote on Economic Measures

PARIS — Just 10 days after he was voted into office to end France's longest postwar cabinet crisis, Premier Felix Gaillard was forced today to demand a vote of confidence to push financial reforms through the National Assembly.

The Assembly is expected to vote Tuesday on Gaillard's proposals to raise taxes and cut expenditures in an effort to lift France out of a financial morass. Observers said Gaillard probably would win.

Gaillard asked for the confidence vote about dawn today after an all-night Assembly session.

Earlier in the session, he warned that such disagreements within the NATO alliance as the raging dispute over arming Tunisia might split up the Atlantic allies.

French anger at U. S. and British shipments of small arms to Tunisia yesterday was expected to unite the deputies behind Gaillard because few would be willing to vote out his cabinet during the arms negotiations.

The 38-year-old Premier's position also was considered secure because of the fresh memory of the 37-day cabinet crisis which ended Nov. 6. No alternative government is in sight and a defeat (Continued on Page 7, Col. 3)

British Mishap

43 Die, 15 Injured in Air Tragedy

NEWPORT, Isle of Wight, England — A flaming British flying boat plummeted into a wooded hillside near Newport last night, killing 43 of 58 persons aboard.

The four-engine Solent, owned by British Aquila Airways, developed engine trouble and crashed shortly after it took off from Southampton for Lisbon, Portugal, with 50 passengers and a crew of 8. Many of the passengers were beginning vacations.

Was Turning Back

A spokesman for the Civil Aviation Ministry said the pilot had radioed he was turning back to Southampton because one engine failed. He apparently crashed about 15 minutes later. The plane had set out on its usual route in cloudy weather.

40 Bodies Recovered

Trees were set ablaze where the big plane dropped on this popular resort island in the English Channel. Soldiers, firemen, farmers and police pulled survivors and burned bodies from the flaming wreckage.

All those on the plane were Britons, an Aquila spokesman said. The dead included the entire crew, two of them stewardesses. Forty of the bodies were recovered.

All 15 survivors were taken to a hospital, six of them seriously injured.

The Solent is the civil version of the Sunderland flying boat, a 35-ton plane with a top speed of about 275 miles an hour.

Phinney Lauds Crime Buster

Edgar Croswell Now With BCI in State

Kingston learned with pride today that one of its former special officers and firemen, now a member of the state police Bureau of Criminal Investigation, broke up a conclave of national hoodlums Thursday in the southern tier of the state.

He is Sgt. Edgar Croswell, head of the BCI for Tioga and Broome Counties, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Croswell, of 329 South Wall Street. His father is vice-president of the Binnewater Lake Ice Co., 25 South Pine Street.

Frustrated 65 Leaders

Sgt. Croswell, 44, a well-built, 200 pound member of the state police for the past 16 years, showed courage and alertness in frustrating a strategy meeting planned by 65 leaders of the national crime syndicate at Apalachin near Vestal.

Members of the local police and fire departments, who once worked with Sgt. Croswell, indicated that "Ed's story" was something you might expect of him "because he was always diligent, alert and a real, swell fellow."

Born in Woodstock, Sgt. Croswell attended Kingston High School and was graduated from the Spencer Business School here.

"Since he was a small boy he always wanted to be a policeman," his father said proudly today.

Frequent Visitor Here

"I was a little surprised to read about what happened to Ed, but I knew he was working on something, even though he didn't tell me what."

Sgt. Croswell visits his mother and father here in the city "about once a month," and his mother described him as "always a wonderful boy and very good to us."

Sgt. Croswell has one brother, Leroy, who lives in New York City, and two sisters, Mrs. Donald Zimmerman, of 331 South Wall Street, and Mrs. Joseph Haller, of Mt. Tremper. He is a nephew of Edgar T. Shultis, president-treasurer of the Binnewater Lake Ice Co., and vice-president of the Rondout Savings Bank.

His parents told The Freeman today they are "naturally, very proud of him."

Was Local Fireman

Sgt. Croswell was a special officer of the local police department.

January Draft Call Is 10,000

WASHINGTON — The Army has announced a draft call for 10,000 men in January—the highest figure since last August.

The Army forecasts even higher induction quotas through next June.

Assistant Secretary of the Army Hugh Milton said yesterday the increase is necessary, despite manpower cutbacks ordered earlier, because over-all losses resulting in part from normal discharges will be greater than the reduction program calls for.

Draft calls dropped from 11,000 last August to 8,000 in September, then dipped to 7,000 for October, November and December.

Kelly, Edelmuth Mentioned For Radel Cabinet Posts

Announcement of appointments to be made by Mayor-elect Edwin Radel, were not officially due today, but names are being mentioned, and whether right or wrong they are in circuit.

The politically astute persons, for instance, who are name dropping, figure that William A. Kelly, County Democratic Leader, is due to fill the post of corporation counsel, now held by James J. Abernethy. He had served, by appointment, part of a term as county judge, after John M. Cashin was named a district federal judge.

Former Democratic Mayor William F. Edelmuth is also being mentioned as a possible appointee, for either the city clerk's or treasurer's post, and

U.S. Bids France to Assume Job Dulles and Pineau To Confer Tuesday

WASHINGTON — U. S. officials said today they would be delighted if France would take over the task of providing guns to Tunisia on terms acceptable to the Tunisian government.

The possibility of working out a formula to meet Tunisia's further arms needs appeared to offer the best hope of closing the split between Washington-London and Paris over this issue in advance of next month's North Atlantic summit conference. That conference was called to seek greater unity among the western allies.

Meeting Is Vital

Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau are scheduled to meet here Tuesday for a discussion of NATO problems and the Tunisian controversy. Their talks are expected to show whether and how quickly a closing of the gap between the principal NATO powers may be achieved.

French Premier Felix Gaillard said in Paris, yesterday that the December NATO meeting in the French capital — which President Eisenhower plans to attend — will fail to achieve its aims unless the Tunisian arms issue is settled first and settled to the satisfaction of France. He warned that NATO is in danger of "falling to dust" because of such disagreements.

Arms Already Sent

American officials were not certain that a settlement is possible. They said, for example, that there is no way of undoing what has already been done. Within the past two days, Britain and the United States have delivered to Tunisia close to 1,000 guns and many thousands of rounds of ammunition.

This action was taken in spite of angry French protests that such weapons, moving to Tunisia without any control by France, might find their way across the border into the hands of Algerian rebels fighting French troops. U. S. officials discount that possibility but concede that the issue presents great domestic political difficulties for the French government.

Meet in Tense Session

In Paris, meanwhile, the Permanent Council of NATO met in a tense session today to try to smooth over the rift.

Representatives of the 15 NATO powers meeting in secret included Etienne de Crouy-Chanel of France. He was expected to raise France's bitter objections to arms deliveries made yesterday.

The council was also scheduled to make plans for the NATO summit conference next month. The meeting was a regularly scheduled one.

Hearing Nov. 20th On Parent Charges

Charges that an area school district and two of its three trustees are operating illegally will be heard by the state commissioner of education Wednesday in Albany.

Appeals for the hearing were filed October 11 by three residents of Zena School District (Woodstock Common School District No. 7).

Charge Discrimination

The parents contend that a practice of paying tuition for children attending schools in other districts is of a discriminatory nature and is done to eliminate necessity for paying transportation within the district.

Signers of the appeals are Mrs. Anne McNelis, Mrs. Mary Rathgeber and Ervin L. Barr. They will attend the Albany hearing at 2 p. m.

The board of trustees consists of Albert Holmizer, chairman; Verner May and Joseph P. McNelis. McNelis is in disagreement with the other two, taking the same stand as the three signers, one of whom is his wife.

Hearing for Signers

McNelis said he had not been informed of the meeting as a trustee, which indicates that the hearing is for the three parents to explain their charges to the education commissioner as individuals.

Charges included in the appeals indicated:

U. S. Probers Are Interested in Apalachin Gang

APALACHIN — Two State Troopers stepped obviously into the parking lot of a remote hill-top mansion, took out their pencils and began jotting down the license numbers of the sleek limousines.

What followed was the break-up of one of the most interesting parties ever held in this southern area of New York State. State police termed it a national gangland convention.

Host's Son Charged

In the aftermath of the police action, Joseph Barbara Jr., son of the host, faced a charge of third-degree assault on complaint of a newspaper photographer.

Barbara, 21, of Apalachin, was free in the custody of his attorney pending the posting of $1,000 bail. Charles Carson of the New York Journal-American swore out a warrant yesterday charging that Barbara earlier in the day had smashed his camera and injured his hand with a kick. Carson said he was trying to take a picture of the soft-drink bottling plant open.

Nazarene Church Will Dedicate Offering Plates

Three new Sudbury all-brass offering plates will be dedicated and presented to First Church of the Nazarene, Elmendorf Street at Wiltwyck Avenue, at the 10 a. m. worship service, Sunday.

The offering plates were purchased by Charles Simmons and will be dedicated to the memory of his father, Arthur Simmons.

Set Musical Group

In the 7:30 p. m. evangelistic service, the Gospellers, a musical group from Margaretville will be playing several gospel songs.

Looking toward the 1958, golden anniversary year of the Church of the Nazarene, Dr. S. T. Ludwig, general church secretary, has outlined a series of simultaneous events in which every church of the denomination will participate.

Pastors of all local Nazarene churches now are planning for individual or union watch night services, Dec. 31, which will usher in the jubilee year.

Other simultaneous services in Nazarene churches around the world will include:

January 5—Worship service marking the start of the anniversary year; April 6—Easter offering for world missions, goal, $1,000,000; Oct. 12, 1958—50th anniversary services; and Nov. 23—Thanksgiving offering for world missions, goal: $1,000,000.

Birthday Oct. 13, 1908

Official birthday of the Church of the Nazarene was Oct. 13, 1908 at Pilot Point, Texas, when a group of smaller churches in the East, West and South formally united.

Sharing a belief in the Wesleyan doctrine of entire sanctification, or heart purity, the original 228 churches and 10,000 members have increased in 50 years to 4,500 churches with approximately 300,000 members.

Your Life And Mine

By
CLYDE HERBERT SNELL
MAJOR MIX-UPS

There are certain areas where to be mixed-up matters little. A man, for example, may be undecided as to whether to part his hair or comb it all back, and not suffer any very serious consequences. His head may look like a brush heap; but that is no "killing matter." And eventually the calendar may solve the problem for him by putting him in the category where combs are unnecessary.

But there are other areas where to be mixed up means disaster. It is a major mix-up to be fooled as to what is important in life. Putting the emphasis on the wrong things gets us into all sorts of trouble. The Creator has so arranged the world that the prizes and the enduring rewards never go to the wrong folks. If we chase an illusion we never come upon a promising reality. If we follow the wrong paths we do not wind up at the right goals. If citizens vote to legalize a vice it does not mean that the blessings of a sound moral society will result. Those who sow wild oats, as someone has suggested, are only fooling themselves if they hope for an "out" by praying for a crop failure. To be following trails that lead nowhere; to be badly enthusiastic about doing the things which undo us; to be servants of low ideals, dedicated to causes that are unworthy or malicious—these are major mix-ups. And, pursued, they will have serious consequences.

Some years ago Walter Lippman made a profoundly incisive comment about our age. He said: "We are busy doing many things, but we are not sure of them are worth doing." Life falls apart on us when we lose, or fail to find, that surety. To concentrate upon doing the things which we are sure, deep down in our hearts, are not worth doing is like petting a tiger who is almost certain to turn on us—and devour us!

We are all mixed-up in this chaotic, perilous age of ours. The very emptiness of lives betrays the fact that the quests are false. Remember Monsieur Profond, the character in John Galsworthy's story, "To Let," who has completely exhausted life, and has neither enthusiasm nor principles. His remark about every occupation, interest, and life itself is simply that there is nothing in it.

Maybe it is far more important to make a friend than it is to make an extra buck. If only we considered neighborliness a little more important we would find life infinitely more satisfying—and rewarding. So many are unsure about what they are after. They flit around like moths after flames; and then wonder why they get burned. Personal or social problems will never be solved hopelessly until we inquire diligently concerning what we ought to be seeking and doing. God holds His challenging "oughts" over us, with the threat of sure doom if we ignore—but with the promise of glorious fulfillment if we espouse and follow!

Gannett Prices Up

ROCHESTER — Six Gannett newspapers in New York State have raised their prices from five to seven cents.

The papers are the Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, the Ithaca Journal, the Elmira Advertiser and the Star-Gazette and the Utica Observer-Dispatch and the Press. They increased home delivery prices from 30 to 40 cents a week. Sunday editions are unchanged at 20 cents. The increases are effective Monday.

Loft's Returning To Uptown Locale

Loft's Candy Shops announces the opening of its new Kingston shop at 333 Wall Street, marking its return to the community after an absence of several months.

To celebrate the event a candy party will be held for three days beginning Thursday, Nov. 21 and continuing through Saturday, Nov. 23. The shop is stocked with Thanksgiving candies for the table, gifts, and many things that will appeal to the children.

Mrs. Marie Shann, the manager, and her staff are ready to welcome old friends in Kingston and to greet newcomers. Trays of candy will be offered for tasting and there will be Vitamin Joy Pops for the kiddies. A sample box of Loft's favorites will be given free with each purchase.

500 at GAR Rites

GETTYSBURG, Pa. — More than 500 descendants of men who fought for the Union gathered at this Civil War shrine today to observe the first national Grand Army of the Republic Remembrance Day.

Heads of five organizations are taking part in a special program at the Gettysburg Memorial to the GAR. The memorial, completed a year ago, has for its central figure a statue in heroic proportions of Albert Woolson, the last GAR survivor, who died in Duluth, Minn., Aug. 2, 1956.

Scores Spiritual Lack at Many YMCAs

WASHINGTON — The Evangelical journal "Christianity Today" said in an editorial today that "in many places the spiritual tenor of the YMCA is at a very low ebb and in others virtually non-existent."

Editor Carl F. H. Henry said the "Y"—Young Men's Christian Assn.—"as an evangelical agency, has in recent generations displaced its Christian evangel by the secular and merely social."

Speakers before many of the most influential local YMCAs, Henry said, have been "accorded Christian sanction to forms of Marxism, which they imply would be acceptable if filtered through the minds of men steeped in... Christian idealism."

"Some associations," he continued, "have become rallying places for 'religious brotherhood' efforts, bringing together Protestant, Catholic and Jewish interests in such a way as to deprive Protestantism of its former missionary vitality."

Search Is Brief

Baltimore Twin Tax Under Fire

BALTIMORE — The City Council gave birth yesterday to twin taxes on paid advertising and quickly found itself threatened with a court fight and censured by the advertising industry.

Councilmen, by votes of 14-6, enacted one ordinance providing a 4 per cent tax to be paid by the advertiser and another establishing a 2 per cent tax to be paid by the advertising medium.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, who proposed the taxes to help balance the city's budget, signed the ordinances within 15 minutes. A short time later, President William F. Schmick Sr., of the A. S. Abel Co., publisher of the Sun papers, announced:

"We are convinced that the advertising tax ordinances are discriminatory and are a direct violation of the freedom of the press guaranteed by the United States Constitution."

The Baltimore Sun papers will contest the validity of the ordinances in the courts to the fullest extent.

In New York, the board of directors of the Advertising Federation of America, which describes itself as the world's largest advertising association, said:

"Even if we could ignore the harmful effects of such discriminatory taxation on the freedom of the press and on advertising itself, we have a great duty to protest on behalf of the wage earner and the consumer."

Will Decorate School

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Principal J. Trimble Boyd says his Lake View High School in Chicago is going to put up Christmas decorations after all.

He told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram by telephone last night he has decided to disregard complaints by the Illinois division of the American Civil Liberties Union. An ACLU spokesman had asserted religious decorations in a public school violated the doctrine of separation of church and state.

Boyd said he had received mail from all over the United States urging him to keep the school decorations, and Lake View High's Parent-Teacher Assn. was backing him solidly.

LEITH K. HARRISON

Airman Leith K. Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph W. Harrison of 63 Garden Street, has entered the communications Equipment Repairman School at Scott Air Force Base, Ill., it was announced today.

He will receive instruction in the installation and maintenance of radio communications equipment.

Airman Harrison recently completed his indoctrination training and has now entered his air force career field. Because communications is a vital factor in the support of a combat-ready air force, the specialized training he will receive at Scott Air Force Base is one of the many complex phases of radio contributes immeasurably toward the primary mission of the air force—maintaining world peace, according to the base commander.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, NOVEMBER 16, 1957

OUR CHANGED WORLD

Since Oct. 4, when the Russians launched their first man-made satellite, we in the United States have been living in a changed world.

The changes are of two kinds, and they interlock.

One is strategic. The nuclear stalemate between the Soviet Union and the West no longer prevails. Russia's demonstrated advances in long-range missiles give it an edge in the world power struggle, despite our many continuing superiorities.

The second is political. Whatever the true material and military balance between the United States and Russia, much of the world today believes not only that we have lost our critical margin of supremacy but that we may be driven to the limit ever to maintain it consistently again.

On the strategic level, our course is simple but extraordinarily difficult. We must catch and pass the Russians in the field of the decisive weapons. Until we do we are not safe.

In the political realm our task is immensely more complex. For even if we achieve our strategic goals, we can have no assurance that the world will look to us again for leadership in the great quests of peace and justice.

Russia's scientific triumphs, whether transitory or not, have planted new and deeper fears in the hearts of millions in free lands—neutral, uncommitted, even some allied with us.

These fears, of death by radiation, of annihilation by the colossal force of nuclear power, are understandable. We all have them.

We cannot hope to eradicate these perfectly human tremors. Men like to live, and we are unlikely to persuade any of them that the prospect of unnatural death is a good thing.

But all who cherish liberty know there is something worse than such a death. That is the death in life which bears the name tyranny.

Somehow we must win millions more of the world's troubled peoples to a realization of that cardinal fact. To accomplish this, we must labor as we never have before to give the world the true measure of freedom as we have known it—and the true gauge of tyrannical communism as the Soviet Union and its enslaved or deluded followers practice it.

Will the Dodgers retain that sobriquet in their new Los Angeles habitat, or might they change it to the Smoggers?

A MILD RECESSION

The news is beginning to filter through to the American people: We're not enjoying an economic boom any more. This does not mean that we're in for what used to be called hard times. It does mean that there may have to be a little tightening of belts here and there.

Government officials have been reluctant to use the word "recession" in describing the current business situation. President Eisenhower said not long ago that economy is "taking a breather," and Secretary of Commerce Weeks called what is going on "a mild, rolling adjustment."

Economists gathered for the University of Michigan's fifth conference on the economic outlook were less fearful of the bugaboo word. Most of them apparently believe that a mild business recession is in progress. A few even think there might be an economic sag quite a bit worse than the 1949 and 1954 dips. A majority of the economists foresee no upturn until late in 1958.

This is not a particularly cheery outlook, but it need not be depressing, either. Our economy has been going forward at such a rate that the general level would still be very high if there were a modest recession. The economic news is no cause for alarm, but a reminder that prudence is a virtue.

THE NEED FOR REORGANIZATION

On June 27, 1956, in this column appeared the following paragraphs:

"We have recently witnessed the spectacle of generals and admirals and members of the Cabinet appearing before a Senate committee and announcing to all the world with some detail that the Russians are beating us in the armament race. The country was as much taken by surprise as when it was discovered that the Russians had the atom bomb.

"What is the real explanation for our backwardness? There is no use telling our people that we have taken second place in a field in which the American genius has been foremost, the field of inventiveness and manufacture. What has gone wrong?"

What was said then was true until President Eisenhower announced that he had appointed a missile boss. Why the delay? Why is unification limited to missiles? Why the lack of effective meeting of challenges when they appear?

The weapons of war are rapidly changing but this has always been true between wars. However now another factor has been added, namely, the speed of the change-over. There will be no 18 months delay while our factories tool up and get ready for the great push as there was in World War II. There will be no opportunity to knock out the enemy after he has fought for nearly six years on multiple fronts as we did to Hitler.

The first battle could be the last battle in the next war. The atom and hydrogen bombs delivered from airplanes may already be approaching obsolescence as we move into the era of guided missiles and rockets. The distance between the user of a weapon and the enemy may be as wide as between the Rockies and the Urals. When space is conquered, time disappears and what used to take years might be accomplished in time measured by minutes.

The new weapons are designed to destroy cities which lend themselves to almost automatic destruction because of their complexities. Take, for instance, a city like New York. Underground is a most complex arrangement of arteries: subways, electric light and power wires, telephone cables, water mains, steam pipes, sewers, post office chutes, etc. A weapon which could put these out of commission swiftly would put the city out of commission. The streets are narrow and overbuilt by structures which rise to the apex of 102 floors as in the Empire State Building. The falling glass would assist an enemy as much as the fire that is inevitable even from a block-buster.

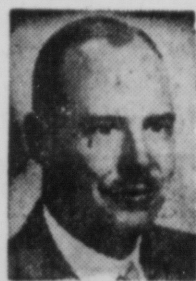

The problem then is to strike at Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and Odessa before the Russians can strike at New York, Detroit, Washington and Pittsburgh. The essential problem is not only the speed of the weapon but the speed of decision. There can be no time for a prolonged Senate debate nor for a President to make a television speech. There will be time only for decision and action.

In a word, we have to revise all our ideas on the organization of our affairs. What we have always had in American history is no longer available to us. That is time. The clocks are spinning too swiftly for our habits and we shall have to change our ways if we mean to remain in the race.

The Eisenhower Administration has been too slow perhaps because of the President's assumption that he might some day work out something with Soviet Russia, perhaps through Marshal Zhukov. In this error of judgment, he was undoubtedly supported by government experts who have too rarely been right about Russia, as the record shows.

The Zhukov phase of our official thinking ought to be over now. At any rate, there can be no meeting in Washington between comrades-at-arms who will introduce a diplomatic conversation by a recital of the good, old days when they fought the Nazis. Zhukov is now in no position to talk to Eisenhower. Therefore, President Eisenhower might just as well give up the theory that he will find a way to Khrushchev's heart; he will not because Khrushchev needs Eisenhower as a whipping boy, not as a friend. And as long as that is so, the value of speculating on what can be done by peaceful, friendly means, only loses time in the race for a balance of weapons, which is the war game we are now fighting.

★ Dr. Jordan Says ★
Bad Scalp Condition Often
Follows Disease, Fatigue
By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.
Written for NEA Service

Mrs. L. asks for a comment on a scalp condition involving constant itching in which the skin under the hair is covered with white scales.

Mr. M. writes that he has an excessively oily scalp and that a kind of "scum" forms shortly after he has washed his hair.

Both of these questions probably refer to an extremely common disorder known as seborrhea. In its more severe form it is usually called seborrheic dermatitis. Besides causing discomfort and trouble with frequent washings and other treatment, this scalp condition is one of several possible reasons for loss of hair—at least for speeding up this process.

SEBORRHEA is often considered to be of two varieties: dry seborrhea, or dandruff, and oily seborrhea. Both are more common in the scalp but may extend to other parts of the body. In oily seborrhea the hair and scalp feel greasy and are hard to keep clean. Dirt floating in the air sticks and the hair follicles tend to clog up with oil, tiny scales of skin, dirt and the like.

This can be painful as well as mildly annoying. What is responsible for this form of seborrhea is not well known. No parasite or germ has been identified, though there are reasons to believe that some kind of infection may be at least partially at fault.

HOWEVER, SEBORRHEA often starts (and always worsens if previously present) after the general health has been lowered by such things as disease or fatigue. Anemia, constipation, indigestion, lack of fresh air and exercise, and the wearing of stiff and ill-ventilated hats have been suggested as contributing factors.

No easy or quick cure for seborrhea is available. If some chronic, weakening disease is present it should, of course, be treated. Any obvious health fault such as anemia or constipation should also be remedied.

LOCAL TREATMENT of seborrhea involves first the removal of the crusts and accumulated fatty material and later the use of stimulating applications. The removal of the crusts and debris may be accompanied by the loss of a good deal of hair. The fatty accumulations are first soaked with some carefully chosen lotion to aid in removal. This is followed by thorough and frequent shampooing.

Many chemical preparations have been used in the form of ointments or lotions after the removal of the scales. However, the disorder frequently resists treatment and tends to come back unless treatment is continued for weeks or months after the skin looks clear.

months and didn't have a traffic accident. Strangely enough, Soviet propagandists have not used this to claim driving superiority.

Washington News

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, (NEA)—Any country flirting with nationalizing its industries and adopting a more socialistic or communistic form of government economy would do well to study the Argentine.

Samuel C. Waugh, president of the U. S. Export-Import Bank, in issuing its report for the year, points out that 15 years ago the Argentine had a gold and dollar reserve of more than 1.6 billion. It was solvent. Then along came Dictator Juan Peron and Evita, nationalizing and socializing everything in sight. They emptied the treasury.

Peron paid British interests the equivalent of 900 million dollars for the Argentine railway system they had built and operated. The purpose was to drive out foreign capital, make the railroads Argentine-owned and operated.

TODAY, SAYS WAUGH, who recently returned from the Inter-American economic conference in Buenos Aires, Argentine railroads are in such bad shape they can't haul the country's farm products to markets for domestic sale or export. The country was as devastated as though it had been through a war, says Waugh.

Today the provisional government of Maj. Pedro Aramburu is trying to put the country back on its feet. The first big task is to re-establish financial credit.

Dr. Mauricio Yadarola, Argentine ambassador in Washington, says free enterprise has now been restored in his country and that future investments of foreign capital will operate under every safeguard. The Argentine, he says, needs all the economic cooperation it can get from North America.

FOR ITS PART, the Export-Import Bank of Washington has extended a 100-million-dollar credit to the country. Some 56 millions have already been released for purchases of much-needed railway equipment. The rest will be allocated soon.

Additional loans will be made to help river transportation, port facilities, roads and new buses for Buenos Aires. Some of the money will be used to finance private enterprise sales of construction equipment from U. S. suppliers.

Profit from this brief Argentine summary could well be taken by the people of India or Egypt or any other developing country. It's the fashion to call them developing countries now, instead of under-developed or less-developed or even backward.

Delegates from 63 nations to the annual meeting of the World Bank in Washington could study this Argentine case to advantage. So could delegates from 82 countries to the United Nations General Assembly in New York.

THE LESSON OF THE ARGENTINE has apparently impressed itself on most of the Latin-American countries. For at the recent economic conference in Buenos Aires there was far less clamor for establishment of a regional, Latin-American local currency bank or a common market plan for the entire continent. There was a growing realization, says Waugh, that enough dollar capital is now available to take care of Latin-American industrial expansion as fast as it can be absorbed and as fast as the countries can develop managerial brains to handle it.

Previous demands that the United States establish a give-away program for Latin America have almost disappeared.

By SOPHIE MILLER

With prices going up it is interesting to see what they were, say back in 1888.

The Kingston Argus of Wednesday, October 3 in their City Paragraphs advises the public: "Roast beef and roast pork can be had at Swart's for 20 cents a plate." It seems meals were served at all hours at Swart's in Kingston with coffee, tea and pie five cents. Raw oysters were 20 cents and stewed oysters 25 cents while fried oysters were 35 cents.

Another item from same paragraph of 1888: "Silas H. Davis' new building, opposite the Court House, will be a substantial building of brick. The front, which will be of Philadelphia brick and blue stone, will be handsome." Another item reads: "The stone store at the corner of North Front and Crown streets, is being improved, and will be occupied by Walter Simpson and Co., as a wholesale tea and coffee store."

The following from the column of Olive: Tongore. There was an old fashioned husking of Richard Harkness, one evening last week. The women turned out as well as the men, there being about 75 altogether, and they had a fine time."

Item further reads: Tongore is an Indian name, after an Indian that lived in that vicinity years ago, and it is claimed that there are some remains of his wigwam yet. He was quite a retired place along the Esopus Creek."

The following is an item from Brown's Station in Olive column: "The Hudson River Wood Pulp Co. are manufacturing from four to five tons of pulp a day, at the works at Bishop Falls. They press it in bales weighing 450 pounds each, and are shipping it right along. They have a storehouse near the depot and draw the pulp to the station with a team of three large horses. They will put in machinery to manufacture what is called wet pulp, which is pressed in sheets and then put in bales and sent to the market. These works are run night and day. The wood is first "chewed" by machinery and then ground by mill stones the same as feed is ground."

October 3, 1888 Marlborough was in the midst of their grape selling. "Over 3,500 crates of grapes were shipped from this place on Thursday night besides the large number of baskets and barrels. George W. Lawson has sold 30 tons of grapes for wine. The Whitney Basket Co. employs about 100 hands now and runs day and night to keep up with their orders." There was also a Kniffin Cup factory in Marlborough.

From Eddyville's news items: "The D. & H. Canal Co. has commenced locking their boats, as the upper creek has fallen down to the low water mark."

"D. G. Atkins, of Kingston is teaching the day school here."

"The heavy timber which was taken away with the freshet has been brought back by the propper, Dr. D. Kennedy, to John S. Roosa."

"The St. Remy, Port Ewen and Ulster Park gun squads paraded through here on Thursday night of last week. They made a fine appearance."

Edgar Crosswell

once employed as a private detective by the mail order firm). He could have stayed with Sears for life. They thought the world of him because of his efficiency and character."

Pliny Schooled Hero

Phinney, considered one of the ace investigators by police heads throughout the state, and by private detective agencies, schooled Crosswell from his early days as a special patrolman, and took a personal interest in him.

Crosswell joined the local fire department Feb. 13, 1941 and resigned Aug. 1, 1941 to join the state police. He was a member of the Cornell Station during the time he served as a fireman.

He has been a member of the BCI for 15 years.

Broke Up Ring

Dedicated to police work, Sgt. Crosswell, in 1946, helped uncover a bribery-conspiracy ring and in 1949 he helped get the evidence which sent the head of Binghamton's police vice squad to prison for taking money to protect gambling. He was made a sergeant in 1952.

Like a good police officer, Sgt. Crosswell hates hoods and racketeers—as Vito Genovese, underboss, and his mob learned to their dismay Thursday.

The underworld bosses, reportedly worried over the threat that younger hoodlums were making inroads into their gangster empire, met at the sprawling Apalachin estate of hoodlum Joseph Barbara.

Sgt. Crosswell and his assistant, Trooper Vincent E. Basisko, of the Vestal barracks, made a routine check on a motel Wednesday and heard Barbara's son, Joe Jr., reserve three rooms for the night.

Sgt. Crosswell figured something was wrong and later investigation disclosed Barbara had hired even more motel accommodations.

Flashy, plush limousines started arriving at the Barbara home while the troopers waited on Wednesday and Thursday.

Forced Hasty Retreat

Treasury agents, alcohol tax agents and local police in the Apalachin area were called in. Early Thursday afternoon the police moved in and took down license numbers.

The alert state police sergeant from Kingston had forced the hoodlums to hastily adjourn the meeting, and the police had rounded up the entire roll call.

Governor of 721 District of Rotary International Sam Scudder of Kingston will make his official visit to the Rotary Club of Saugerties Tuesday evening at Katsbaan Inn, Saugerties.

He will address the club and confer with Saugerties Rotary President Henry W. Sagazie, Secretary Patrick Rodden and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Until he retired earlier this year, Scudder was president of Safford and Scudder Inc. registered jewelers of the American Gem Society in Kingston. He was president of the Rotary Club of Kingston.

Scudder will make his official visit to each of the Rotary Clubs in eight counties of his region.

Kingston Native On TV Interview

Composer Igor Stravinsky, one of the supreme musical geniuses of the 20th Century, will be interviewed on television's "Men of Wisdom" series Sunday afternoon by Robert L. Craft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Craft of Kingston.

The half-hour program is scheduled for 2:30 p. m. on Channel 4.

Featured Many

The program has featured many famous personages of the modern world, such as Picasso, Robert Frost, former President Herbert Hoover, Bertrand Russell, David Ben-Gurion, president of Israel, etc.

Craft, a conductor of growing reputation, has been closely associated with Stravinsky during the past several years. He recorded the complete works of Anton Weber and the Madrigals of Gesualdo during the past year, conducted "The Rake's Progress," a Stravinsky opera, and recently completed a concert tour of Europe.

Thefts and Entry Reports Probed

Theft of $75 in change and clothing from the office of one company, and entry of another on the same floor of the building were reported by police today.

Police received a report at 8:37 a. m. that the Sunray Factory Outlet, 83 Smith Avenue had been entered some time during the night.

Officers Sheldon O'Rourke and William Whelan, who were sent to investigate, notified headquarters that the Prim-Rose Sportswear, located on the second floor of the same building, also had been entered.

Defectives Clarence Brophy and Frank Sammons, on further investigation, reported that $75 in change and a quantity of clothing had been taken from the Sunray Outlet. The amount of clothing taken could not be determined immediately, they said, pending an inventory of the stock.

Entry was made by breaking a lock off a sliding door, the detectives said.

It was reported that entry to the Prim-Rose Sportswear had been gained by breaking a door lock, which was missing, detectives said.

A preliminary check did not disclose anything missing, police said.

Detectives still were investigating at press time.

25 Die in Rail Crash

CHANTONAY, France—A freight train and a passenger train collided at a small station near here at noon today. Railway officials said 25 persons perished and 12 were injured.

The passenger train was a diesel powered "Autorail" of the type used on short haul or commuter runs. The scene of the accident is north of Bordeaux, in a rolling coastal area.

Railway officials said the passenger train was just pulling out of the little station of Roches-Yon when the freight roared down on the same track and struck it.

U. S. Output Down

WASHINGTON—The nation's level of industrial production dropped last month to its lowest point since July 1956, reaching 142 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

The Federal Reserve Board reported yesterday that the seasonally adjusted production index for October was the lowest since the 132 per cent level of July a year ago, during a nationwide steel strike.

The index reflects the physical output of mills, factories and mines.

OES Rehearsal Set For Initiation Session

SAUGERTIES—A rehearsal for the initiation session of Emmanuel Chapter 517, Order of the Eastern Star, Saugerties scheduled Tuesday, Nov. 26 will be held Wednesday at 7:15 p. m. in the Masonic rooms.

Members attending the initiation session will bring a covered dish and a small Christmas gift to be sent to Grand Matron at Oriskany for the Christmas party project.

The Alice M. Scardfield Chapter of Constellation of Junior Stars meets in the Masonic rooms Thursday at 8 p. m. Constellation and Eastern Star members are invited to the initiation session.

Council of Churches Group Slates Meeting

SAUGERTIES—The regular monthly meeting of the Saugerties Area Council of Churches will be held Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 6 p. m. in the lecture room of Saugerties Congregational Church.

A dinner will be served by the Women's Fellowship of the church.

Pastors and delegates of participating churches planning to attend will make reservations with Council President the Rev. Frederick Imhoff, pastor of the Congregational Church.

Centerville Home Unit To Hear Johnson Talk

George Johnson of the Social Security office of Kingston will be the guest speaker at Centerville Home Bureau Unit Wednesday at 8 p. m. in Centerville Methodist Church Hall.

Those planning to participate in the knitting classes to be taught by Mrs. Frances Knuth and Mrs. Wasserbach will report at 10 a. m. and prepare to stay for lunch.

DeGroat Appeal For Time Granted

A motion made by Joseph Avis, counsel for Donald DeGroat, 24, of 87 Fair Street, for an extension of time within which to perfect an appeal from a 1955 conviction for burglary, third degree, has been granted by the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court. The time is extended to the January 1958 term of the appellate court.

The appeal from the 1955 conviction is of great importance to DeGroat since it was that conviction which placed him recently before the County Court for sentence as a second offender following conviction by a jury of rape, first degree, and assault, second degree, alleged to have involved a 17-year-old Kingston girl.

In November 1955 DeGroat was convicted of a burglary at the Sherman premises in Woodstock. At that time, because of lack of funds, he did not prosecute an appeal which had been filed in the higher court seeking to set aside the conviction had in County Court before County Judge William A. Kelly.

On October 4, 1957, DeGroat was found guilty of rape by a jury in County Court. On October 9, 1957, he admitted he was the same person who was convicted of burglary in 1955, and was sentenced as a second offender to a term of from 10 to 20 years in Clinton prison on the rape charge and from 5 to 10 years under an assault, second degree charge. The two sentences were to run concurrently.

Client Without Funds

Attorney Joseph Avis, who defended DeGroat in the rape and assault case, at that time said an appeal would be taken from that conviction and sentence. He informed Judge Louis G. Bruhn that his client had no funds but would seek under the "nauper" law to go before the appellate court without a printed record.

Avis also said he would move before the higher court for an extension of time to perfect an appeal in the prior conviction, even though the statutory period for such an appeal had expired.

Although the statutory time for perfecting an appeal expired, Avis argued there had not been an order of dismissal entered and the appeal was therefore still before the Appellate Division. Because of extenuating circumstances he sought the additional time to perfect the appeal. The court granted that motion, extending the time to the January term.

Avis alleges an appeal will also be taken from the conviction of last October. DeGroat and Peter Ferraro, 16, of 17 Liberty Street, were both found guilty of rape, involving a 17-year-old girl who charged she had been forced into a car, taken to Greenkill Park and attacked by five men. Michael Christofora, 20, of Yeomans Street, entered a plea of guilty to assault, third degree, during the trial of DeGroat and Ferraro. Two others, also indicted, have not yet been brought to trial.

Oregon Cuts Taxes

SALEM, Ore.—The state of Oregon, anticipating a budget surplus, has cut income taxes 20 per cent.

Even with the slash, fiscal experts predict a 31-million-dollar surplus at the end of the biennium June 30, 1959.

Without the cut, approved last night by the Legislature, the surplus would have been an estimated 74 million.

Dies of Injuries

LITTLE FALLS—Richard F. Austin, 18, of St. Johnsville, died in Little Falls Hospital last night of injuries suffered earlier yesterday when his automobile struck a tree.

The accident was on Route 5 near this Herkimer County community. Austin was alone in the

Garcia Clinches Filipino Ballot

MANILA—President Carlos P. Garcia clinched the Philippine election today when his only serious rival, Liberal Jose Yulo, conceded defeat.

Yulo conceded after counting of about 70 per cent of Tuesday's ballots showed Garcia ahead by more than half a million votes.

Liberal Congressman Diosdado Macapagal continued to increase his lead in the vice presidential race.

Unofficial returns gave Garcia, the Nacionalista Party nominee, 1,599,438 votes and Jose Yulo, Liberal, 1,091,399. Other presidential candidates were far out of the running.

Toronto Man Is Shot Down, With Wife and Couple

BUFFALO—A 27-year-old man from Toronto was shot down on the street early this morning as he was walking with his wife and another couple.

Held in connection with the shooting, police said, were two men from Cleveland. They said the men were picked up after road blocks were set up by state troopers on main highways leading out of the city.

The victim, James Patrick Moran, was shot in the abdomen at 2 a. m. He is reported in serious condition.

Police said Moran was with his wife, Ruth, and Mr. and Mrs. Morris T. Smith, of Buffalo, when an automobile drove up and one of the two occupants called to Moran.

After a short discussion, police said, the driver leaped out, fired once into the pavement and then at Moran. The motive for the shooting was not known to police.

Girard Verdict Due Tuesday; U.S. Cost Is $85,000

TOKYO—The trial of GI William S. Girard, in which a verdict is expected Tuesday, was reliably estimated today to have cost the U. S. Army in Japan about $85,000 so far.

The figure will go higher if there is an appeal from the ruling on Girard's manslaughter trial. The Illinois soldier is accused of killing a Japanese woman scrap collector on a firing range last Jan. 30.

The Army estimate was based on careful calculation of the manpower, vehicles, airplanes and supplies used in investigating the case, defending Girard and providing services to the Japanese court and the press.

The expenditures out of existing budgets "will force us to tighten our belts on other things we might have been able to do," one U. S. official said. He said the case had involved 22,000 man hours worked by at least 130 U. S. troops and Japanese employes.

13 Children Among N-F Fire Victims

NIAGARA FALLS—Sixteen persons were killed early today when fire raced through a three-story frame building occupied by two Negro families.

Nine others were injured. Thirteen of the dead were children.

The fire was discovered at 4:35 a. m. by patrolmen in a cruising police car, but it was too late to warn the occupants.

Flames quickly blocked the stairways, trapping many of the victims in bedrooms on the upper floors. At least one of the victims was killed in jumping to the ground.

Killed were Mrs. Mary Ewing, 25, and her six children, Howard, 9; Horace Jr., 8; Arline, 6; Linda, 4, and twins Terry and Jerry, 1.

Also killed were six children of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Reid, Mary Louise, 5 months; Sanford Jr., 2; William 3; Harvey 6; Carson, 10, and Walter, 17.

Also killed were Jack Thomas and John Jackson, believed to have been rooming in the building.

Authorities reported the identity of the other child could not be learned immediately.

Unable to Appear

MORRISTOWN, N. J.—George Curley, 38, of Boston, was discovered ill in bed in New York City yesterday he failed to appear here yesterday to plead to two morals charges against him.

Curley, son of former Boston Mayor James M. Curley, has been free in $1,000 bail since his arrest Sept. 5 on charges of debauching and impairing the morals of a minor.

Prosecutor Frank C. Scerbo said a check by a physician and detective he sent to New York City confirmed that Curley was unable to appear and needed bed rest for circulatory ailments of the feet.

The prosecutor said it was possible Curley would be able to enter a plea to the charges within the next two weeks.

Governors Offer Plan

WASHINGTON—A committee of state governors has offered to assume responsibility for school construction programs in return for the right to collect telephone and some other local taxes.

Some administration officials speculated the proposal might influence President Eisenhower not to repeat his recommendation for federally aided school construction when Congress reconvenes in January.

The Eisenhower plan submitted to Congress last year called for a four-year program of federal aid costing $32 million dollars a year. The plan failed to get congressional approval.

SHE WANTS TO BE HELPFUL
Dear Mrs. Post: I have a friend who, whenever we dine out, collects the dishes after we have finished eating and piles them up neatly on the side of the table for the waiter to remove. I have tried to tell her that it is not the proper thing to do and that they should be left where they are. She thinks she is being helpful and can see nothing wrong in what she does. I told her that I would write to you and get your opinion.

Answer: You are entirely right and in spite of her wish to be helpful, her action is not proper.

Returning An Invitation
Dear Mrs. Post: Is it very rude not to return the invitation of an acquaintance? I went to her house and was convinced on that occasion that she and I had nothing in common. I'd really rather not encourage any more invitations. Mother says I must invite her once. If I do so, won't I then find it more embarrassing to refuse her if she should invite me again?

Answer: Not necessarily. I agree with your mother that you should return her invitation. But you need not accept any more of her invitations—if you do not wish to. As a matter of fact, likes and dislikes are usually mutual and it may very well be that she won't want to invite you again.

Typing Personal Letters
Dear Mrs. Post: The members of my typing class would like to know if it is proper to typewrite personal letters. Our typing teacher claims that it is perfectly proper. However, there are several of us who disagree with her on this point and think that a typewritten letter is very impersonal and that while all right when writing to acquaintances, letters to personal friends should always be written in one's own handwriting.

Answer: Years ago a typewritten letter was thought to have been dictated to and typed by a secretary, but today when so many of us have typewriters and know how to use them the picture has changed. It is now perfectly proper to typewrite letters to one's friends. In fact most of us would much rather receive an easily read typed letter than an almost indecipherable handwritten one.

How should one eat baked potato? Is it good manners to break crackers into soup? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-16, "Table Rules of Importance," will explain. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c/o The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Asks Priority

Carlson Urges Science College On Long Island

OYSTER BAY — The president of the State University of New York says establishment of an engineering and science college of Long Island "is an item which must receive the highest of priorities in this state."

Authorization to proceed with the college, Dr. William S. Carlson declared yesterday, has been withheld from the State University.

Carlson added: "While the nation cries for action in preparation of scientists, of engineers, the State University of New York is required to watch from the sidelines, unable even to accomplish the preliminary planning for the college which we stand ready to establish."

Two years ago, Carlson recalled, the Board of Trustees of the State University suggested that the college be established.

This proposal was rejected by the Board of Regents. A bill calling for the creation of the special college was vetoed by Gov. Harriman. The governor said he wanted education officials to make a thorough study of the overall needs of the state.

Groom Accidentally Shot by Best Man

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Awiszus, who was to be a bridegroom today, was accidentally shot by his best man last night at a tavern party celebrating the coming marriage.

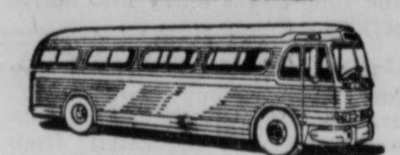

Awiszus was reported in fair condition with a stomach wound after being shot by State Police-man James Prince, 24, who hosted the party.

Prince, who is assigned to the Joliet station of the State Police, said he checked his service revolver at the North Side Tavern and that it accidentally went off as he reclaimed it from the bartender. Prince was wounded in the hand.

"It went off and there was my buddy lying on the floor," he said.

Awiszus, 22, a railroad switchman, and Miss Diana Vogt, 19, were to be married today.

TB Cases In U. S.

NEWLY REPORTED ACTIVE TUBERCULOSIS CASE RATES*
PER 100,000 POPULATION: 1955

In the states shown in white the new reported active tuberculosis case rate ranges from 13.5 to 23.3 per 100,000 populations; in dotted states it is 22.0 to 41.5; in diagonally striped states 42.0 to 51.7; in states shown in black 55.8 to 322.4. The TB problem varies from state to state, but the germ that causes TB knows no political boundaries. With Christmas Seal funds, the tuberculosis associations fight the spread of TB throughout the United States.

Gaillard Stakes

for Gaillard, forcing him to resign, would leave France without leadership at a critical time.

Gaillard, a financial expert who was finance minister in the previous government, presented to the Assembly last night the stringent monetary program which he had promised in seeking the premier's job.

The government asked special powers in preparation for the 1958 budget. Gaillard said he needed them to combat inflation which he said is threatening to destroy the value of the already weak franc and to slow down the nation's economy.

A bill before the Assembly calls for $241,076,000 in new taxes. This would be raised by excess profits taxes on corporations, an increase in taxes on manufactured products and hikes in the rates on revenue stamps.

In addition, government expenditures would be reduced by about $238,695,000 and a ceiling of about 12½ billion dollars would be put on the government's 1958 spending.

Gaillard also asked that the Assembly be forbidden to initiate any new government expenses, even if it provided an equal amount of new revenue. The Premier sought authority to crack down on merchants who violate price ceilings.

Negro Leaders Meet

ATLANTA (AP) — Negro leaders from 11 southern states began a two-day meeting in Atlanta today to develop plans to increase Negro registration and voting under the new civil rights act.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, planned to open today's session with a general statement on the objectives of the conference.

U. S. Probers Are

erated by the defendant's father in Endicott.

Young Barbara was arrested at the hilltop home where state police said the meeting was held. He pleaded innocent when arraigned before Endicott Police Justice Stephen S. L. Buran.

Three newspaper reporters were with Carson at the time of the attack. They were Ed Newman of the Journal-American, Carl Pellock of the New York Post and Miss Jerry Kearney of the Endicott Bulletin. They were not arrested.

Kennedy Shows Interest

In Washington yesterday, Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the Senate rackets investigating committee, told reporters, he had seen the list of those at the meeting "and some of them we are interested in."

This was not long after Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) and Vice Chairman Irving M. Ives (R-NY) had teamed up in alleging connections between some high Teamsters Union officials whom they refused to name and the Mafia. They said they planned further inquiry into this.

Kennedy did not draw any direct connection between that line of inquiry and the Apalachin meeting. But he said some of those attending would be quizzed by staff investigators.

Sees U. S. Syndicate

In New York City, U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams described the meeting as a further indication of a criminal syndicate operating across state lines and on a national scale.

He said the syndicate annually takes "from the pockets of the people as much as $2,280,000,000."

In Paris, Sen. Estes Kefauver, Tennessee Democrat who once headed a Senatorial crime investigation group, said the police action "should do much to disperse the gangs."

One of Barbara's guests, John C. Montana, a Buffalo businessman, said yesterday he was at the conclave because of car trouble. "While the car was being repaired I called on him (Barbara). I've known him for many years," he said he was not acquainted with the other guests.

Montana is president of a taxi company and a former Republican city councilman.

Hearing Nov. 20th

district of a caste system wherein tuition is being paid for certain children to Woodstock Elementary School (Woodstock No. 2), West Hurley (Hurley No. 5) and Ontario Central School but denied to others.

2. A long standing practice of paying tuition to other districts for children who live closer to school in other adjacent districts. The appeals charge that this practice is followed in order to eliminate the necessity of paying for transportation within the district.

3. Alleged plans for the establishment of arbitrary boundaries within the district to assure that certain children will be forced to attend the district's one room school.

4. Rejection of Zena parents requests for tuition to other district schools. The requests were denied by the trustees through the establishment of a resolution dated July 2, 1957. This resolution stated that no requests for tuition would be honored after that date (July 2, 1957), because no prior notification of intent to deny tuition was given to the residents, this resolution is considered illegal.

Stand of Two Trustees
The appeals indicate that the three parents consider these and other practices to be discriminating against their children and other children who may move into the district after that date.

A reply to the appeals by two of the trustees, Albert Holmzner and Verner May had indicated that these practices were established by a "mandate of the taxpayers" and had requested that the three appeals be dismissed by the commissioner.

Kasper Is Given Six Months on Racial Disorders

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor told John Kasper he must have respect for the law, then sentenced the lanky segregationist yesterday to another six months in prison.

Kasper was sentenced after he and six co-defendants from the nearby Clinton, Tenn., area had been denied a new trial in their contempt of court convictions arising from racial disorders last year at Clinton.

Defense lawyers immediately announced they would appeal to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati.

Kasper already is serving a year for his activities at Clinton. The northern segregationist twice has been convicted of violating Taylor's injunction against interfering with court-ordered integration at Clinton High School.

The judge was easy on the other six, convicted by an all-white jury last July of conspiring with Kasper to violate the injunction. The five men and one woman were placed on probation ranging from one to two years. Maximum penalty was a $1,000 fine and six months in prison.

Body Found in Pond

PORT JERVIS (AP) — The body of Christine Gushue, 21, was found last night in a small pond into which she apparently had driven a truck. The vehicle had plunged over a 10-inch concrete wall into the water.

Police said Miss Gushue and the truck owner, John Remy Jr., spent Wednesday evening at a bar. They said the woman drove Remy home and then presumably started to drive to her own home.

The game of chess is the oldest of all games of pure mental skill—a game in which chance cannot enter. One of the first books, if not the first, published in England was a book on chess printed in 1474 by William Caxton. The game was first brought into prominence in the United States by Benjamin Franklin.

Library Schedules Forgiveness Week

WOODSTOCK—Last year the Woodstock Library had its first "Forgiveness Week." It was most successful and many old and valuable books were returned. So it has been decided to do it again the week of November 17-23.

While the fines that the library collects amount to a considerable sum in a year, it is the book that is of most importance. So for one week, Nov. 17 to 23, every book that is returned, no matter how much overdue, will be accepted with a smile, no questions asked and no overdue fines charged.

November 17 to 23 is also Children's Book Week. Among the new books at the Woodstock Library are: For older girls—Emery, First Orchid for Pat; Whitney, Ever After; Means, Knock at the Door; Emmy; Hall, Straw Hat Summer.

For boys—Comanche of the Seventh, Black Stallion Mystery and The Crocodile Tomb. Other new books—Clue in the Antique Clock; The Surprise of Their Lives; Head for the West; Rockets Through Space; Pagoo.

For the beginning readers—Mr. Pringle and Mr. Button House; Nickey's Football Team; Little Maverick Cow; The Bears on Hemlock Mountain; Sleepyhead; The Day the Cow Sneezed; Night Cat; The Little Knight; and Fairwater.

Ontora P-TA Schedules Book Fair Nov. 20-22

WOODSTOCK—Ontora Parent-Teacher Association is celebrating National Book Week by sponsoring the annual book fair at the school.

Members of the Ontora P-TA attending open house night Tuesday will have a preview of the fair which will then continue from November 20 to 22, from 8:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Mrs. Richard Crist, of Woodstock, a member of the Ontora P-TA, will speak briefly about the new junior publication she co-authored with her husband, "The Secret of Turkeyfoot Mountain." The book, just published by Abelard Schuman, was the Book of the Month selection of the Junior Literary Guild for October.

The books, which will be on exhibition in the main corridor of the school, will be arranged on tables according to the interests of the students, and will include everything from picture books for the very young, to books about dogs and horses, and fiction and non-fiction for readers of every age.

In the event that a book is not in stock, it may be ordered, and delivery is promised by early December.

The books have been carefully selected by school librarians, and members of the administrative board. A list of these books has been compiled and will be distributed by the classroom teachers several days prior to the book fair so that parents may have an opportunity to examine the list and help their children in their selection of books.

As a special feature, the students of the elementary grades have been busy on a book week poster project under the direction of Miss Sue Huebener, elementary art teacher, and the prize winning poster of each grade will be on display in the show cases of the main hall.

The judges of the contest are Ronald Vanni, Miss Huebener, and Donald Twine. The winner of each grade will receive a book from Mr. Twine.

The committee in charge is as follows: Mrs. Kenneth Martin, chairman; Mrs. Beldon Hyatt, Mrs. Edmund Gilligan, Mrs. Chester Gaede, Mrs. Noelle Gilmore and Mrs. Carl Hubbell. In

Dull Black Paint Restores Many Objects to Use

Find exactly the right paint, and many weary objects perk up. The paint that will do the most reclaiming at your house may be a dull black.

Not a shiny, hard-to-apply black that shows brush marks and turns out a glaring finish that's far from the look of anything new in the stores, but a soft sooty black that produced a professionally finished effect.

A metal object once good can often be burnished to good looks again. But near-brass that's too beat to brighten, tin, and other materials that have lost metal finishes change remarkably with a coat of black that has a velvety dullness.

A long rectangular tin cake pan can become a fascinating long panel frame for a collector or a picture.

Paneling Makes Room Pleasanter

Current "dream houses" often include at least one room in paneling. Nothing makes a room pleasanter or more charming—whether it's livingroom, playroom, or den.

Paneling goes up quickly with today's ready-cut boards or plywood, and with easy-to-use wood finishes it can be turned to modern or traditional interiors, in light or dark tones.

Furniture and floors take on a rich, warm glow, too, with wax care. They can be maintained with liquid wax, and need never be rescraped and refinished.

Blacktop Driveways Are Easy to Repair

Repairing rough blacktop driveways can be a simple job for the handyman when prepared "cold-mix" material is used. This is asphalt and stone properly graded to lay out smoothly, and is sold by building supply dealers.

Although called "cold," mix because it is not heated for application the way materials used for big commercial jobs are, it handles best when warm—as it will be after a few hours in the hot sun.

The mix is spread with a trowel and worked smoothly to fill depressions, cracks and erosions. Afterward the trowel can be cleaned with kerosene or other solvent.

No More Crushed Rugs

New furniture supports, made completely of plastic, hold a 1,500-pound grand piano without leaving a permanent mark on the carpet, according to the manufacturer. At the bottom of the small disc-like supports are more than 100 tapered teeth. These are supposed to push aside the pile of a tufted carpet without crushing the fibers. Meantime, the weight is distributed over an area two inches in diameter so that the short teeth do not pierce the carpet's backing.

The entire product is made of Bakelite D-11, a strong and durable plastic. The supports come in three colors—gray, straw and walnut-mahogany.

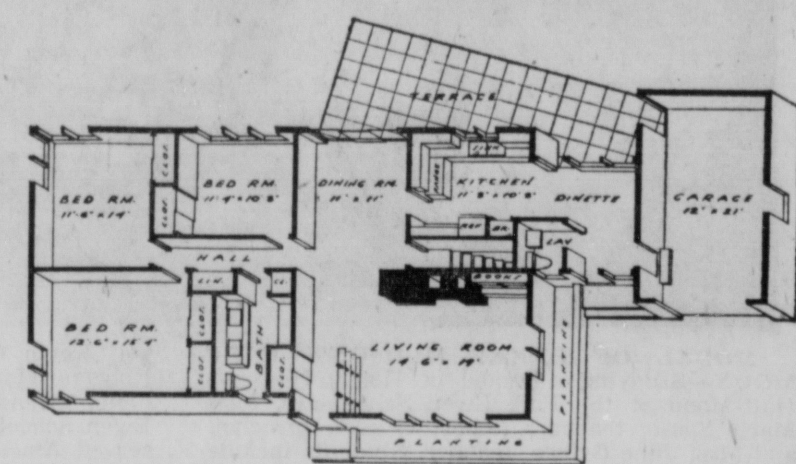

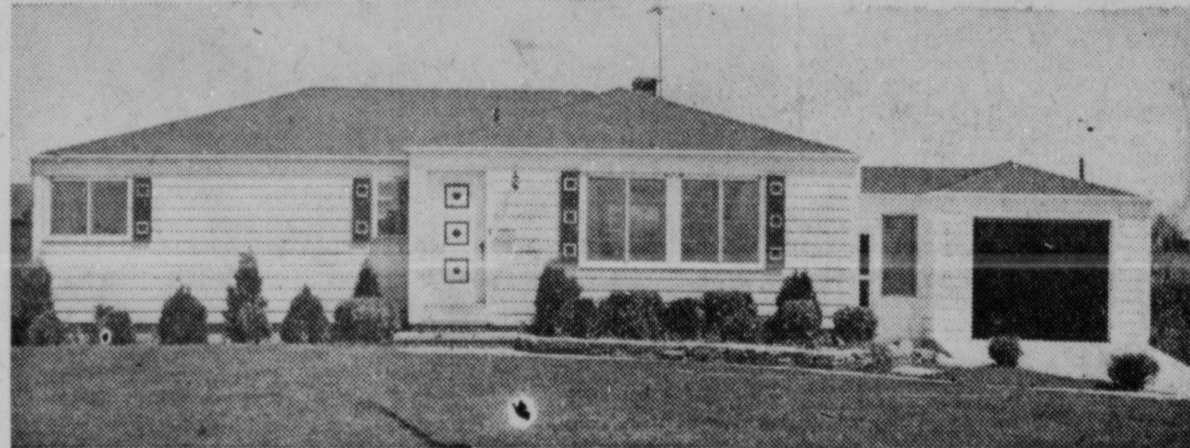

Petroleum Solvent

A complete refinishing is not always necessary when limited areas of floors become dingy. Often the grime is caused by dirt imbedded in the wax. The floor boards may be in good shape. In this case, the wax and dirt can be removed by a petroleum base solvent. A fresh coat of wax will be needed after cleaning.

The 'Montrose,' Striking in Design And Feature-Loaded

Rooms Seven
Bedrooms Three
Closets Eight
Cubage: House 31,400 ft.
Garage 2,640 ft.
Dimensions 73' by 34'

The Home of the Week Plan Service today features the "Montrose" a seven-room house whose striking design only hints at the luxury features to be found within.

But the house is not pretentious and would fit graciously into any suburban neighborhood while at the same time giving its owners an immense pride in possessing it.

Although front door opens into the living room, a foyer-like area can be provided by the construction of plain, modern-type lattice work extending to the ceiling.

This will set off the front door from the room and also cut off the direct view of the double size guest closet just to the left of the front door.

Fireplace Treatment
The living room, located at the front of the house extends across the longest dimension for a distance of 19 feet. From front to back, the room measures 14½ feet. The large fireplace is located along the rear wall, facing the large picture type window construction.

A stone material could provide the fireplace unit with a different appearance; or roman brick, long and narrow, might appeal to others.

But the dramatic appearance of the fireplace will be heightened through the use of a large mirror above the mantel while warmth can be added by flanking the fireplace on one side with a bookcase.

Dining Areas
The "Montrose" has two dining areas; one an 11-foot square formal dining room and the other a generously-proportioned dinette.

Between both the dining areas is the kitchen, a type of placement whose convenience is obvious.

The formal dining room will have increased glamour if an 11-foot wide expanse of glass is used, preferably sliding type. With such a unit, the attractive terrace will become a part of the dining room, physically as well as optically.

The wall between the dinette and the terrace would also be most attractive if large window units were used, and perhaps a French type door.

Kitchen Work Area
The kitchen of the "Montrose" is 11 feet, eight inches long by 10 feet, eight inches wide. The sink, flanking counters and cabinets are built along the rear wall and the range and wall cabinets are located along one side wall.

The refrigerator and another counter-cabinet unit face the rear wall where the sink is located. On the other side of the refrigerator is a broom or utility closet.

At the front of the dinette, is an alcove area from which a lavatory is entered. And opposite the lavatory entrance is the door to the 21 by 12-foot garage.

Large Bedrooms

Each of the three bedrooms in the "Montrose" are large and the many expanses of unbroken wall area will allow varied furniture arrangements, none of which will crowd needed floor area.

The master bedroom, at the front of the house, is 15 feet, four inches long by 12½ feet wide. This room has two double size closets. Windows in here are corner units.

The next largest bedroom in the "Montrose" is in the rear corner of the house and it measures 14 feet by 11½ feet. The third bedroom is 11 feet, four inches long by 10 feet, 8 inches wide.

Each of these two bedrooms is equipped with one double size closet.

Lincoln Closets

There are two linen closets in the "Montrose." One is located in the bathroom.

The exterior finish of the "Montrose" would perhaps be most effective in white clapboard. A solid front door with the panels rimmed in color or black in the form of a square would also be most striking.

The exterior blinds of a color matching the door's panel trim would heighten the appearance of this home.

The plan of the "Montrose" is acceptable to FHA and VA.

Blueprints Available

Complete plans and specifications for this house and all other "Home of the Week" designs are available at moderate cost. Address requests, mentioning name of home, to Home of the Week, Inc., Dept. KF, 87 Weybosset street, Providence, R. I.

Color Called Mark Of Up-To-Date Bath

If your house is about 30 years old, it may be showing premature gray hairs.

Usually, your bathroom is the tattle-tale. That old-fashioned antiseptic look white tile, stark floors, and old fixtures is now as dated as the Model-T.

Color is a mark of the up-to-date bathroom, reports the Plumbing Fixture Manufacturers Association. Not only are walls and floors colorful, but pastel lavatories, toilets, and bathtubs are increasingly popular.

Bathrooms need not have a sterile, hospital look. The decor of the modern bathroom should vary with the style of the house and with the needs and tastes of the persons using the room.

For a child's bathroom, use blue, yellow, or deep red fixtures and nautical, western, or Disneyland decorations. For a young girl, try a built-in vanity lavatory; pink, ivory, or light green fixtures and flowered wallpaper or curtains.

New Mineral Wool Insulation

A new type of mineral wool insulation made by a revolutionary spinning process is being used to insulate the new Windermere homes now being built in Saugerties. Made in a modern plant in Trenton, N. J., this unique insulation is fabricated from age-old mined minerals and a special mineral by-product of the steel mills. Heated to a sizzling 2600° F this molten mineral mix is poured onto a series of fast spinning stainless steel wheels that spin the liquid rock into fine, long, curled fibers that look much like cotton candy. Once cooled these fibers become resilient and if compressed and released will return to their former shape. This new development assures that the insulation will always fill the joist spaces in which it is placed.

To convert these fibers into insulation, they are sprayed with a binder and built up into a blanket several inches thick. This process creates millions of dead air cells within the blanket that give it its high insulating value. Because of its completely mineral content and high melting point this insulating blanket is also used to insulate industrial equipment up to 1800° F—it is completely non-combustible, provides no sustenance for termites, vermin or rodents, has no smell, will not rot or decay. The fibers cannot be damaged by water.

For use in Windermere homes this insulation is made in two forms. One, a semi-rigid board, is used in the edge of the concrete floor and around crawl space walls to prevent perimeter heat loss. The second, a vapor barrier backed blanket is used in the ceilings and walls. Full thick blankets are being used in the ceilings where heat tends to escape fastest, and semi-thick blankets are being used in all exterior walls. Because the homes are completely wrapped in this thick coat of spun mineral wool insulation, it is claimed heating bills are as much as 40% lower than normal for homes of this size. In summer—the full thick blanket in the ceiling will, on hot days, keep inside temperatures up to 15% lower than outside.

Old Piano Bench

An inexpensive coffee table for the rumpled room can be made by converting an old piano bench. Saw the legs off to desired height and cover the top with a panel of wood, fastening it with wallboard adhesive. Coasters, ashtrays and magazines can be kept under the hinged lid of the bench.

Veterans Rights, Benefits Listed

Howard C. Shurter, county director Veteran's Service Agency, and William Hartman, state veteran counselor NYS Division of Veterans Affairs, submit another in a series of articles on rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen and other dependents.

Compensation — The new monthly rates of service-connected compensation should have been reflected in the October VA compensation check received on October 31 or the first few days in November. Anyone receiving VA disability compensation who did not receive a raise in his October check may contact this office to obtain assistance in finding out the reason he did not get one. Veterans receiving statutory awards for arrested TB were not included in the increase. Moreover, veterans in receipt of non-service connected pensions do not receive a raise under the provision of the new law.

Insurance — The Veterans Administration will consolidate the VA insurance center in Washington with the VA district office in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. The consolidation is scheduled to start on February 1, 1958 and be completed by March 31, 1958. The move is expected to add to the efficiency and economy of the VA insurance operation. The transfer, which will involve about one million government life insurance policies, will locate about two-thirds of all VA insurance accounts in Philadelphia. The Washington insurance center now services all United States Government Life Insurance which originated in World War I and those held by policyholders who are now on active duty or who are residing outside the United States. Policyholders who are serviced by the Washington office will be notified by mail when to start sending their insurance premiums to Philadelphia.

Armed Forces — Starting early in 1958 enlisted personnel in the United States armed forces will get merit pay ranging from $12 to $50 a month. The merit plan provides that an enlisted man may earn the pay of the grade as much as two grades above his regular rank without actually holding the higher position. The increases under the merit plan, however, are expected to be limited to about 15 per cent.

of armed forces enlisted personnel. The principal purpose of this plan is to keep experts and specialists in the armed forces.

Scholarship — One hundred New York State scholarships for children of deceased or disabled veterans will be available in 1958. Each of these scholarships entitles a winner to a sum not exceeding $450 a year while in attendance of any approved college located within the State. Persons who hold this type of scholarship may hold state scholarships from other sources. Applications for scholarships must be submitted by registered mail to the Bureau of Examination and Testing, State Education Department, Albany 1, on or before January 11, 1958. The competitive scholarship examination is scheduled for January 23, 1958. The candidate must be a child of a veteran who served in the U. S. armed forces in World War I or II or between June 25, 1950 and July 27, 1953. The veteran must have been a resident of the state at the time of his entry into active service.

Bonus — Forms for applying for West Virginia Korean Veterans Bonus is now available and may be requested from the West Virginia Department of Veterans Affairs, Bonus Division, Capitol Building, Charleston, West Virginia. Form to be requested is Form No. K1. Filing deadline is June 30, 1959.

Questions about the rights and benefits of veterans, servicemen or their dependents may be submitted for individual attention to the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs and The Ulster County Veterans Service Agency office at 32 Main Street.

• BRIDGE Luck Is Not All in Breaks

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Today's hand is reminiscent of the classic bridge story of the kibitzer who criticized the bidding severely. When it was pointed out that the contract had been made he retorted "Sure, but you played it wrong!"

The six-diamond contract is a bad one. The hand should have played at four spades. However, the fault lies with North. His rebid should have been two spades, not three diamonds.

South was lucky enough to get a club opening. A heart lead would have cooked his goose right away. He won the lead with dummy's jack and led the jack of diamonds. East played low and South went right up with the ace. This dropped West's singleton king and South made 13 tricks.

There were cries of "Horse-shoes" and "Did you get a peek?"

South accepted the good luck but claimed correctly that he had made the right play. He pointed out that he did not need to pick up the king of diamonds to win the hand as long as East held three of that suit.

Here's how the play would have gone if West's singleton diamond had been a small one: South would have run spades. He would ditch a heart on the third spade and lead a fourth. East's best play would be to trump low. In that case South would overruff, lead the queen of clubs and overtake with dummy's king.

The fifth spade would now allow a discard of this one remaining heart. East would make his king of diamonds but that would be all.

For Proper Care Know Your Floor

The proper care of floors has become increasingly important with the turn of the trend from heavily carpeted areas toward more widespread use of polished wood and resilient surfaces.

The problem was fairly simple in the days when practically all underfooting was just wood, but with the current development of new and varied kinds of flooring materials it is helpful to have a wider knowledge of maintenance products and techniques.

There are three things concerning flooring that the housewife should know:

1. The material of which the flooring is made.
2. Which of the basic types of wax should be used for that material.
3. The best methods of day-to-day care between waxings.

Information about the correct wax to use and proper maintenance is available for home owners from every manufacturer.

Shriner Dinner, Show Thursday at The Barn, 6:30

The annual dinner and entertainment of the Ulster County Shrine Club is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 21, at The Barn, starting at 6:30 p. m.

Announcement of the affair was made today by Attorney Joseph A. Davis, president of the club, who said arrangements are under the supervision of the potentate and members of the Divan of Cyprus Temple.

Any Shriner from Ulster County who has not received his invitation is asked to contact President Davis by telephone.

"We have an extraordinary program of entertainment," President Davis said, "including three first-rate vaudeville acts from New York City."

Cornell Represents N. Y. in Moot Test

ITHACA (AP)—A Cornell University team will represent upstate law schools in a moot court national competition next month in New York City.

Yesterday, Cornell beat the University of Buffalo and won the annual upstate competition. Cornell represented the government in a hypothetical federal case involving a scientist dismissed for security reasons.

Members of the Cornell team were Ellis M. Duell and Donald J. O'Connor, both of Ithaca, and Ira O'Brien of Brooklyn.

In preliminary rounds, Cornell defeated Syracuse University and Buffalo defeated Albany Law School.

Judges were Stanley H. Fuld of the state Court of Appeals; federal Judge Edward J. Dimock of New York City; and Clarence H. Briscoe of Corning, justice of state Supreme Court.

The competition was sponsored by the Young Lawyers Section of the State Bar Assn.

Deer Season Opens Monday in Catskill Mountain Region

Large Turnout Of Hunters Seen For First Day

The big game season gets underway Monday morning in the Catskill region and one of the largest turnouts of deer hunters is expected to greet the opening.

The season runs for a 15-day period to Dec. 3. On the final day, deer of either sex may be taken in the counties of Ulster, Putnam and Sullivan. A special permit is required in these counties for hunting antlerless deer. The permit costs 50 cents, and are limited.

The Conservationist, official publication of the Conservation department, says: "A review of state-wide reports indicates more deer should be taken this fall than in any other year in the history of the state."

"Surveys show that deer herds throughout the state are at record or near record levels. In the Adirondacks the deer herd, favored by a succession of easy winters with less than normal losses from winter starvation, has built to an all-time high. The Catskill and eastern counties, too, show record high populations—especially in some Hudson river and lower Catskill counties. The deer herd in the extensive central and western regions is equal to last year's area-wide antlerless season."

Bear Picture Good
"The bear picture looks good, too." (The season closes on Dec. 3 in all counties except Delaware, Greene, Ulster and Sullivan where it ends on Dec. 15).

"Populations are at their highest in recent years. New York's most valuable big game trophy should not be overlooked."
In the Adirondacks, the publication goes on to say, there will be over 130 bears, live trapped, tagged and released by department technicians. Any taken by hunters will be worth a reward of $25 per tagged bear for return of tags and information on the animal to help the study of this big game animal.
The small game season runs through Dec. 12 in the Catskill and eastern counties.

BOWLING SCORES

BEN TOFFEL recorded a 597 series in the Electrol League for Management to set the pace on the city lanes last night. He posted games of 208, 212, and 177.

ADELIN FERRARO led the distaff side with a scintillating 569 series in the Ferraro Women's Classic. Rolling for the Cricket Shop, she unloaded strong lines of 173, 203 and 193.

Kelder Guest Speaker

Moose Lodge to Fete Small Fry Club Sunday

Kingston Lodge No. 970 Loyal Order of Moose will honor its small fry baseball squad Sunday (tomorrow) at 4 p. m. at a dinner at the Moose Home, 82 Prince Street.

The boys, all members of Kingston Little League teams this past season, represented the local lodge in the state Moose Assn. baseball tournament over the Labor Day weekend at Schenectady. The club put on a fine showing, finishing eighth in a 32-team field. The tourney drew the most teams in its history and lured clubs from all over the state.

Kelder to Speak
Vernon J. Kelder, of Ellenville, District Little League Director, will be the guest speaker.

Joseph Myers, chairman of the sports program, and supervisor of the group while at the tourney, will act as toastmaster.

Boys to be honored include Len Bovee, Tom Fiore, John Falvey, Ed Kessler, Jack Darwak, Charles Davide, Lon McAndrew, Eddie Schultz, Don Ellis, Alan Tucker, Eddie Mills, Ed Hofbauer, Wayne Reynolds, Mike Hart, and Gerry Hawkins. The boys were representatives of the Kingston National and American leagues and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Ray Radel and Paul Mills acted as co-managers for the squad.

Reds Sign Catcher
CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds yesterday announced the signing of Lloyd King, 22, a catcher from Fort Recovery, Ohio. He will be sent to Hornell, N. Y., in the Class D New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League.

Heaviest man on Army's soccer team is 200-pound Charles Oxreider, 21, of Winter Haven, Fla.

After Georgia Greeting Ike Schedules Golf

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower put more golf on the docket today after getting his customary friendly greeting on arrival in the deep south.

The President-in-Dixie for the first time since he ordered federal troops to Little Rock, Ark., to help enforce a federal court order dealing with school integration—arranged to play another round at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Tours Nine Holes
Eisenhower got in nine holes shortly after he and his wife arrived by plane from Washington yesterday afternoon for a five or six-day stay.

In advance of the President's arrival, White House aides had joined in the general speculation as to whether Eisenhower's dispatch of troops to Little Rock on Sept. 24 might provoke a show of ill feeling against him here.

No Incidents
But on this 16th Eisenhower visit to Augusta since his election in 1952, there was—so far as newsmen observed—not a single incident to set this arrival apart from the others.

As he stepped smiling from his plane the President was greeted by a burst of applause from the crowd of about 250 persons on hand at the airport. The crowds have been about that size on other arrivals since the first few during Eisenhower's first term.

West Cage Race Close

By The Associated Press
St. Louis, Detroit and Cincinnati today were virtually tied for the Western Division lead in the National Basketball Assn. with only 15 percentage points separating them. But watch out for Minneapolis.

The Lakers, who got off to the worst start possible—seven losses in seven games—under new coach George Mikan, won their second straight last night to move into contention in the West. They defeated Detroit 112-104, and are only two games back.

In the other games, Syracuse downed St. Louis, 91-86, and Cincinnati defeated New York 101-99.

Knicks Host Detroit '5'

There will be 17 New York Knickerbockers, 11 current and six former, on the court tonight in Madison Square Garden when the Detroit Pistons meet the Knicks with New York determined to avenge the 109-107 defeat, in Detroit, last Tuesday.

The program begins at 7:15 p. m. with a high school game between LaSalle Academy and St. Peter's of Staten Island. The present day Knicks will not enjoy a home court advantage for with the Pistons are ex-teammates Harry Gallatin, Gene Shue, Dick McGuire, Walter Dukes, Sweetwater Clifton and Dick Atha. Gallatin played nine years with New York, McGuire eight, Clifton seven, Shue two and Dukes and Atha one each.

676th Straight
"Iron Man" Gallatin will be playing his 676th straight NBA game tonight. He hasn't missed one since he reported to the Knicks in 1948. To date, "The Horse" is one-ninth correct in his prediction made last week: "I know of nine games I don't intend to see us lose, and they're all against New York."

Gallatin made only five baskets against his old buddies in Detroit last Tuesday, but two of them were in the clutch in the final minute to tie the score and set the stage for Shue's winning goal in the last three seconds. Shue contributed 16 points, but the Pistons hero through most of the contest was Clifton with 23 points and a great floor game.

Charlie Eckman, Detroit coach, plans to start four ex-Knicks, Gallatin, Clifton, Shue and Dukes, along with high-scoring George Yardley, who is having another sensational season. He posted 32 against the Knicks Tuesday, and is well up among the NBA leaders with a 27.7 average. Yardley was held to three goals by Mel Hutchins in the first half of the Detroit meeting, but broke loose for seven in the second half. He also hit 12 of 13 from the foul line.

Single Code Favored

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Instead of three different sets of rules, none considered adequate, unlimited hydroplanes probably will race next year under a single code for the first time in history.

The Unlimited Hydroplane Racing Commission, meeting here in connection with the 54th annual convention of the American Powerboat Assn., announced formulation of the new rules last night.

George Trimmer of Buffalo, N. Y., commission chairman, said the gold cup membership will be asked to approve the new code within two weeks.

Reports of Purse

There were reports yesterday that Robinson finally had received $107,000 of his September purse that had been held up by the federal tax people. Perhaps he now will be more willing to talk of the future.

Jenson said he hoped to talk with Robinson over the weekend. Most observers around the boxing beat expect Robinson to box Basilio again, probably next June.

Referee Mark Conn (6-4) and Judge Artie Aidala (6-3-1) scored last night's televised bout for Fullmer and Judge Bill Recht had it even (4-4-2 in rounds and 6-6 in points). The Associated Press had Fullmer on top 5-4-1. A poll of ring-side reporters showed 12 of 16 had Fullmer winning and one called it a draw. About 2,500 saw the action.

Little League Assn. Meets Monday at YMCA

Kingston Little League Association will hold a meeting Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA, according to an announcement by John Ray Mayone, secretary.

Election of officers, the budget and other important items are on the agenda. Persons connected with the Assn. are urged to be present.

Starr-Graham Here Thanksgiving Evening

DAMPENED ENTHUSIASM—A brave beginning leads to a wet end for a pair of sailors in the Bay of Algiers during the Mediterranean Championship Regatta. The wind and waves prove more than a match for their seamanship, overturning the boat, and leaving them forlornly awaiting rescue.

Ricki Starr, pink ballet shoes and all, has been signed to meet Professor Jerry Graham Thanksgiving night at the municipal auditorium in the feature match of a holiday wrestling show.

Promoter Ted Bayly of Troy made the announcement today and promised an all-star supporting card for the main tussle.

Starr, of course, is no stranger to local mat fans. He has appeared here several times and is currently one of the darlings of television.

Graham, too, is no stranger to followers of the grunt and groan sport. He is billed as one of the favorite badmen and has been seen here a couple of times before in main events.

Bayly said he would announce the rest of the program later next week.

3 Top Contenders Face Road Tests In Valley League

Three of the top four teams in the Hudson Valley Bowling League will be on the road tonight.

Jones Dairy, runnerup, goes against Channel Master at Ellenville while Charles Men's Shop of Newburgh, the pace-setters, journey to Florida to meet Landmark Inn. Third place Dutchess Recreation of Poughkeepsie hosts Saccoman's Jewelers and fourth place Middletown Merchants travel to the Walden Merchants.

Only four games separate the pretenders. Charles is setting the pace with a 22-8 record and the Dairymen are 21-9. Dutchess is 19-11 and Middletown 18-12.

Five Merchants of Kingston roll at Liberty Diner, and Shanahan Construction at Prospect Dairies in other action.

Kingston dominates the race for individual honors. Jerry Oster of Jones leads the way with a 207.6 average and is followed by Phil Battaglia (Saccoman's) with 202.4, Ken Joseph (Prospect) 197.4 and Chris Gallo (Jones) 196.2.

League Standings

Decision Reversed
Woman Cleared Of Cattle Charge

County Judge Louis G. Bruhn has reversed a conviction of last April in Justice's Court in Lloyd when Miss Elizabeth Collier, retired professor of English at Hunter College, New York, and a former teacher at Penn State and Davis and Elkins College, was found guilty of failure to provide subsistence for, and neglect of cattle at the farm of Miss Grace V. B. Roberts at Highland.

Miss Collier, 73, was charged by an agent of the American Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals with neglect of cattle on the Roberts farm which she had been engaged to take care of. It was alleged by Agent Mulligan that she neglected the cattle, failed to provide feed and water and that several of the head of live stock died as a result and that others were in a starved condition. She was specifically charged with violation of a section of the Penal Law on April 10, 1957, in that "she failed to provide proper subsistence and neglected cattle in her custody, the cattle being the property of Miss Roberts."

Convicted in April

A jury trial was held April 29, 1957, and a verdict of guilty returned. Justice of the Peace William M. Gruner imposed a $500 fine or in lieu of the fine a 90 day sentence. When Miss Collier failed to pay the fine she was committed to jail. She remained there three days and was released pending an appeal from the conviction in justice's court. Joseph P. Cassidy of Newburgh, appealed the conviction to County Court on the grounds that stereotypical slides used at the trial to show the situation at the barn, had been wrongfully admitted in evidence; that the evidence at the trial did not substantiate the verdict of the jury and that the sentence imposed was excessive.

No Condonation

In his opinion Judge Bruhn says the Court's decision "should not be construed or interpreted as condonation of any act of cruelty to animals," but "no conviction unless obtained free from the taint of a violation of the defendant's substantial rights, should be permitted to stand by any court."

He therefore reverses the verdict of the jury, vacates the judgment and sets aside the sentence and the $500 fine is remitted. The information is dismissed and the defendant is discharged and any bail, if provided, is exonerated. The reversal of the justice's court decision for "errors both of law and fact" since the verdict and sentence is set aside, Judge Bruhn did not pass on the question of whether the fine was excessive.

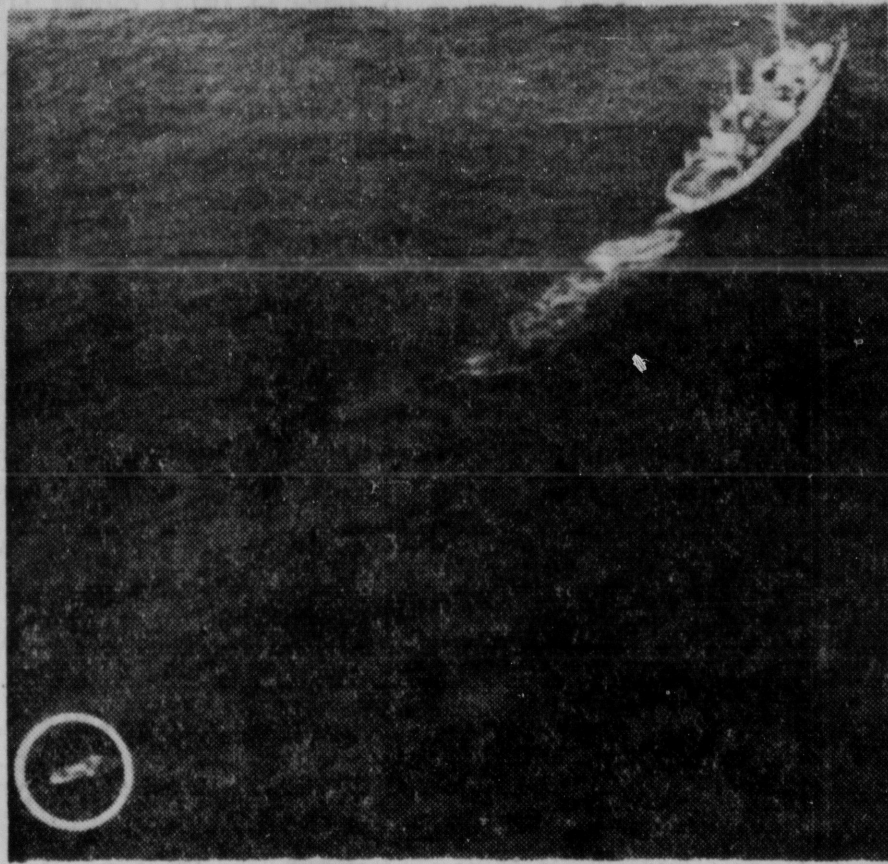

Judge Bruhn directs that an order in conformity with the findings of the court be submitted.

Planned Program

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — A Montgomery, Ala., study club announced this general theme for the year's programs: "Profound, Puritanical, Pertinent, Plithy Periodicals and Published Peccies, Plucked from Past and Present Printed Pages."

Noise Husher

When choosing new flooring in a home where small fry run rampant try to select a noise-proof item, plus one that can be cleaned up easily and is impervious to dents left from roller skates and bicycle tracks. Rubber tile is one of the resilient noise mufflers that is easily cleaned.

BODIES OF PLANE DEAD PICKED UP — A small boat (circled) from a Coast Guard cutter picks up bodies and debris from the Pan American Stratocruiser that crashed in mid-Pacific

Broken Bodies, Debris of Plane On Way to U. S.

HONOLULU — Carrying a grim cargo of 19 broken bodies and considerable debris, the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea headed for her home port of Long Beach, Calif., today.

The bodies and debris were all that could be found after an intensive week-long search for survivors of the Pan American Stratocruiser "Romance Of The Skies." The carrier radioed that it had exhausted all possibilities of finding any survivors.

The big stratocruiser disappeared a week ago yesterday with 44 persons aboard.

The mute evidence taken from the sea indicated the airliner and its passengers had met a swift and violent end. Most of the bodies were shoeless and in life jackets, suggesting the 36 passengers and eight crewmen were preparing for a ditching.

by the 1950 Federal census. Each city receives annually the sum of $6.75 times the amount of its population; towns $3.55 for each inhabitant and villages $3 for each inhabitant.

The increase in per capita assistance for municipalities who had contracted for a special census and have filed a federal census certificate with the State Comptroller will be reflected for the first time in the quarterly installment to be paid on May 15, 1958.

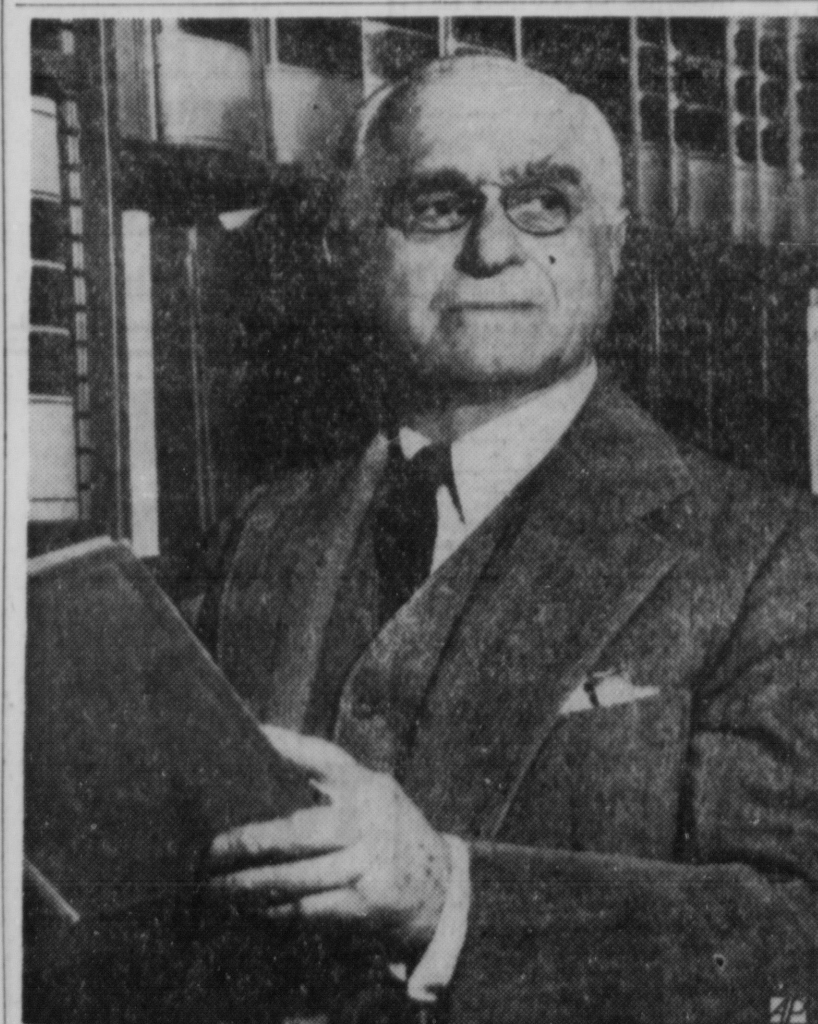

County Distribution

The amount allocated and distributed to the city of Kingston, villages and towns of Ulster County are:

Denning $206.78, Esopus $4,204.97, Gardiner $1,143.98, Hardenbergh $252.05, Hurley $1,757.25, Kingston City $48,574.68, Town of Kingston $201.46, Lloyd $3,996.41, Marlborough $2,098.05, Marlboro $3,552.66, New Paltz $3,327.23, Village New Paltz $1,713.75, Olive $1,298.41, Plattekill $1,965.91, Rochester $2,247.15, Rosendale village $662.25, Rosendale Town $2,618.12, Town Saugerties $8,193.40, Saugerties Village $2,930.25, Shandaken $1,674.71, Pine Hill Village $174.75, Shawangunk $2,737.93, Ulster $3,914.76, Wawarsing $7,876.56, Ellenville Village $3,168.75, Woodstock $2,015.51, Total $112,507.63.

Greene County will receive $32,965.29, Dutchess County $158,476.80, Columbia County $51,886.39, Orange County $201,266.81, Delaware County $52,664.67, Schoharie County $25,366.61, Sullivan County $43,899.23.

Big color for winter is royal blue. It's followed in popularity by rouge red, and for evening, emerald green.

CELEBRATES 75TH BIRTHDAY — U. S. Supreme Court Justice Felix Frankfurter poses with book of statutes in his Washington office on eve of his 75th birthday. Arriving in the U. S. as an Austrian immigrant at the age of 12 and unable to speak English, Frankfurter has become one of the most influential and controversial figures to serve on the highest court of our land. Petit Larceny Case Adjourned

The case of John F. Krueger, 31, of Port Ewen, who was arrested a week ago on a charge of petit larceny involving the alleged theft of amplifying equipment from the Rifton Hotel and Country Club last October, was adjourned last night at a hearing before Justice of the Peace Francis E. Palen, Jr.

The hearing is tentatively set for Friday night, Nov. 29. Krueger is free in $100 bail.

It is alleged that he took an amplifier, microphone and speaker from the hotel while working on a job. He was employed at the time as a plumber by a local contractor.

Making the arrest last Saturday were Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg and County Investigator Arthur Brown. The investigation is reportedly continuing.

Drivers Alerted On Restless Deer

Deer are reported to be moving restlessly about the woods these days—and many are being struck by cars as they cross highways, according to reports from sheriff and troopers.

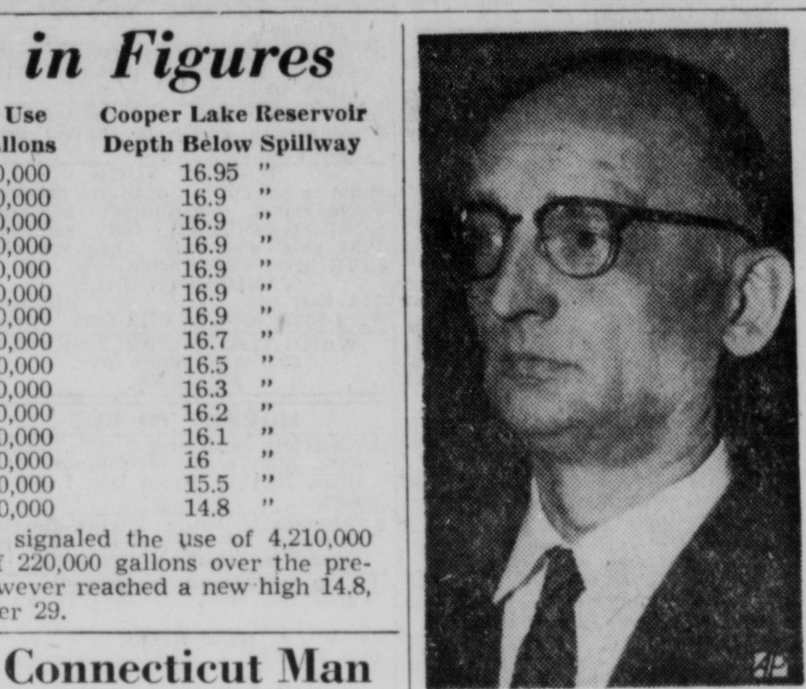

Motorists are cautioned to be on the lookout for such crossings. Kingston state police receive from one to three calls each day reporting deer killed by cars. Other deer are probably injured but manage to make their way back into the woods.

Similar reports come from other trooper barracks in the area.

Ellenville state police reported that Richard A. Gehrig, 34, of Pine Bush, was proceeding west on Route 52 about 250 feet west of the Cragmoor intersection at 5:45 p. m. yesterday when a deer crossed from the south side of the highway and was struck by the left front of his 1953 sedan.

The car was described as heavily damaged. The deer was turned over to a welfare family, it was reported.

with 44 persons aboard. At right the carrier Philippine Sea leaves a trail of smoke bombs marking debris and bodies in the water. Seventeen bodies were recovered. (NEA Telephoto)

Connecticut Man Is Injured in Route 9W Mishap

Edward Mara of 75 Post Road, Warehouse Point, Conn., was taken to Vassar Bros. Hospital, Foughkeepsie, late Friday night with head injuries suffered when the car he was driving went out of control and turned over on Route 9W at West Park.

His condition was reported as serious last night. This morning, however, hospital authorities said Mara, whose age was not listed by troopers, had spent a "quiet night" and was in "satisfactory" condition.

A passenger in the 1953 sedan, Edward Cleary, 54, of Newburgh, was treated at the hospital for multiple lacerations and contusions and released.

Troopers Wallace Mahan and A. W. Scrima of the Highland state police said Mara was proceeding north about 9:50 p. m. when his car left the highway on the east side, crossed back over the road to the west shoulder, then swung again to the east side, turning over and coming to rest on its top.

There was no explanation of why the vehicle went out of control. Troopers are continuing the investigation.

unprecedented accuracy" in an Oct. 31 test.

"The flight was the world's first known demonstration of a true intercontinental missile capability," the Air Force statement said.

Discussing the proposed new space chief post in the Defense Department, McElroy said he hopes the position can be filled within a month, either from civilian or military ranks.

McElroy's announcement came only a few hours after Dr. James R. Killian was sworn in as President Eisenhower's scientific-military coordinator.

Killian, on leave from his job as president of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, declined to comment on the scope of his new White House job.

McElroy said he thinks that at the present time, the IRBM "should have our greatest attention." He said that missile is nearest to perfection.

Rejected Suitor Slays Woman on Crowded Street

NEW YORK — A 23-year-old rejected suitor killed a young woman companion on a crowded Bronx street last night. He then used her body as a shield and traded shots with police before he was captured.

The accused slayer, Louis Sammarco, of Tampa, Fla., was subdued when a Transit Authority patrolman, Maurice Homan, overpowered and disarmed him. Homan downed Sammarco without drawing his own revolver. The Florida man fired his last two bullets point blank at Homan. Both missed.

Scores of shoppers near the Yankee Stadium saw Sammarco fire the first two shots, which sent his victim, Sylvia Xiques, 20, the Bronx, sprawling on the ground. The gunfire attracted the attention of Patrolmen Louis Corbo and Peter Bruno. They approached with guns drawn. Sammarco fell to the street, hid behind the girl's body and opened fire.

As Sammarco traded shots with the patrolmen, Homan pounced on the gunman from behind.
